We are pleased to announce a live poster session for the upcoming international conference at UCSF. We encourage the submission of abstracts addressing original quantitative or qualitative research (including pilot data, meta-analysis or policy assessment) as well as case reports or other clinical data relevant to working life or the environment and health or safety (broadly defined). Potential topics of interest include (but are not limited to): exposure to toxins, toxicants or infectious agents; physical injury; climate change; or other environmental factors; in the USA or globally. Policy and interventions are also of interest.

ABSTRACT PREPARATION

- Abstracts must be limited to 500 words (exclusive of authors and title). Subheadings in the abstract body such as “Background,” “Materials and Methods,” “Results,” and “Conclusions” may be used, but are not required. Disclose any relevant funding support.

ABSTRACT TITLE

- No abbreviations should be used in the title.
- Use capital letters in the title only for the beginning (first letter) of words that are routinely capitalized (i.e. first letter in first word in sentence or a proper name).

AUTHORS & INSTITUTIONS

- Group the authors together - last name followed by first initial and middle initial. Omit academic degrees and titles. End the full list of authors with a period.
- The author who will present the abstract should be indicated with an asterisk*.
- Group institutions together with name, city, state/province and country for each institution.

SUBMISSION AND CONFIRMATION OF RECEIPT

- Submit the abstract text online using this Google Form:
<https://forms.gle/Vyo5sa2UrBELhwpR7>
- Authors whose abstracts are accepted will be given details of presentation format specifications later.

Please note: submitting an abstract does not constitute registration for the conference**
